Just Like Gold Coin.

For more than fifty years has PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER stood the test against all remedies prepared to eradicate pain, and today stands at the head of the list among the medicines that are so essential to keep at hand in the home.

It is not a new fangle remedy nor do the proprietors lay claim to any wonderful revelation of the ingredients that enter into the manufacture of this ever popular remedy.

It is perfectly harmless, you need have no fear of becoming habitually inclined to its use.

For Colic, Cramps, Dysentery, Colds, and all painful affections, a few doses will certainly give relief. You cannot afford to be without a bottle in the house.

Your forefathers used it and found it beneficial.

Why experiment with some remedy that is new and its effect on the system unknown?

It has many rivals but no equal.

Price 25c. and 50c. a bottle.

The Barometer.

That the barometer should be so important a factor in indicating meteorological conditions is to many an unsolvable mystery. There should, however, be no difficulty in understanding that the simple principle underlying the construction is that the free and unfettered air balances a column of mercury varying in height, according to the circumstances of the moment, whose average elevation at the level of the sea is 30 inches. It is known, because directly ascertainable, that 30 cubic inches of mercury weigh close upon 15 pounds avoirdupois, and therefore, as commonly expressed, the pressure of the atmosphere is, under normal conditions, 15 pounds on every square inch—equivalent to nearly a ton on a square foot, more than 8½ tons on a square yard, and of 100 tons on a square of 10½ feet side. Scientific calculation also places the aggregate weight of the atmospheric envelope surrounding the world at about 5,000,000,000,000 tons, and this may be represented as the weight of a solid leaden ball having a diameter of 60 miles. Such figures, says a writer in Longman's Magazine, are really beyond human comprehension.

Cast Iron.

In a paper read before one of the Philadelphia technical societies, Mr. A. E. Outbridge, Jr., chemist, expressed his dissent from the common theory that cast iron becomes brittle under repeated shocks. He was led to test the matter by noting that a number of bars of cast iron, 1 inch square and 15 inches long, gained strength by being shaken for several hours in a box to clean them from sand, and to test the matter still further he prepared 12 more bars, six of which were tumbled in such a box for four hours, and these showed a strength 10 to 15 per cent greater than the six not thus treated. Experiments were then made by subjecting six to 3,000 taps on one end with a hand hammer, the result being a gain in strength about equal to that exhibited by the bars in the box. The tapping produced what Mr. Outbridge calls molecular annealing, which differs from annealing by heat in that it has no power to change the condition of carbon in the casting or alter the chemical constitution in any way.

The Difference.

"I suppose," said Senator Sorghum thoughtfully, "that it's a fine thing to be a statesman, a fine thing."

"But you speak as if it had its drawbacks."

"It has. Of course no labor is performed in vain. The recognition is only a question of time. To my mind a statesman is a great man; but my boy, he ain't businesslike. Very frequently he waits till after he's dead before he gets anything for his services. But with a politician it's a C. O. D. every time."—Washington Star.

A Hidden Ambition.

"Have you no ambition at all?" asked the curious lady.

"Yes, in," said Dismal Dawson, "I have. But what's the use?"

"May I ask what your ambition is?"

"I'd like to be the most beautiful man in America."—Exchange.

Officially described, the mosquito belongs to the family of the cullidina.

Forwarded.

"He has been dead two years, and today I received a bill against him, with the request to forward it."

"Why, what did you do with it?"

"Put it in the fire."—Life.
